Answer any three question of the following

5 What is the significance of the title "The three strangers"?

Ans -> The book is called The stranger in reference to the protagonist, Meursault. He is estranged from society because he does not adhere to its expectation or belief systems, as he believes that life has no reason or meaning.

The title of the book refers to its main character Meursault. Only a very naive reader could consider that the stranger or the foreigner (another possible translation of the french title) is the Arab. Meursault's victim. Meursault is clearly feeling detached from humanity, which shows at the beginning of the novel after his mother has died and he cannot remember the exact date and, worse he does not even care.

Answer any three Questions of following.

Q. Define Surrealism?

Ans → Surrealism was launched as a concerted artistic movement in France by Andre Breton's Manifesto on Surrealism (1924). It was a successor to the brief movement known as Dadaism, which emerged in 1916 out of disgust with the brutality and destructiveness of the First World War, and set out, according to its manifestos, to engender a negative art and literature that would shock and bewilder observers and serve to destroy the false values of modern bourgeois society, including its rationality and the kind of art and literature that rationality had fostered.
